

DHL – Members for Members

DHL participates in the Members for Members program, offering reduced prices for the DIHA member companies, as well as for their employees:

1. Companies which have no DHL account

All companies (DIHA Members), which still do not have a DHL account, are encouraged to participate in this special Members for Members offer, by opening a DHL account.

A DHL Account is a unique number which is given to the client (company), is kept within the DHL system and each time the client sends or receives (imports) a package/letter, the previously agreed prices are applied automatically.

Through DHL, the client can send (export) and receive (import) with the agreed prices to/from all countries around the world.

2. Companies which have a DHL account

If you are interested in changing the previously agreed prices in the actual contract and would prefer the Members for Members conditions, please contact DHL.

3. Employees of DIHA member companies

Each employee of the DIHA member companies, who would like to use the DHL services, can also get the advantages of the Members for Members program.

How it works: The employee should go to DHL with an employment certification of the last month, issued by the respective company, signed and stamped, proving that the person is currently working for the company. In addition, the employee should also show an ID-card or passport. The payment for the services can be done in cash by the members' employees, on receipt of the above mentioned documents.
